EXEMPTION

Application No. 11 of 1999

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by Yarra Valley Community Health Service. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to employ two Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander workers in the Aboriginal health program.

Upon reading the material tendered in support of this application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 100 & 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to employ two Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander workers in the Aboriginal health program.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The positions are funded under the Office of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health program specifically for Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander ("ATSI") people for an Indigenous health worker and an Indigenous mental health worker.
- The workers will be required to provide health care and support to members of the ATSI community and therefore their personal knowledge and experience of ATSI issues are necessary and appropriate for that work. Employing ATSI people and working with the service staff will help the service to better understand the needs of the ATSI community leading to improved access to the service for ATSI people.
- There is a significant ATSI community in the outer eastern metropolitan region who have specialised needs and who have indicated they would prefer ATSI staff members to attend to their personal care and needs.
- Employing ATSI people is a positive move and an affirmative action in acknowledging and recognising the contributions of the indigenous communities of Australia to society.
- The appointment of ATSI workers is in accordance with Victorian Government strategy in particular the Department of Human Services "Koori Services Improvement Strategy – A five year strategic plan" two of the general strategies of which include:
  - (a) involving the Koori community in developing, delivering and evaluating policies, programs and services; and

- (b) identifying and responding to the needs of the Koori community by developing and delivering programs and services that are relevant and culturally appropriate.

- The exemption would be consistent with the Victorian Government's policy of promoting more Koori employment in the public service sector.

The Tribunal grants an exemption from the operation of Sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, to enable the applicant to employ two Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander workers in the Aboriginal health program. This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 24 March 2002.
