EXEMPTION

Application No A98/2005

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to Section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act) by City of Yarra – Recreation and Open Space Unit (the applicant), for exemption from Sections 13, 42, 65, 100 and 195 of the Act. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to engage in the specified conduct.

In this exemption, "specified conduct" means to hold a women-only swimming program, "Women Making Waves", each Saturday of the Victorian School Terms, from 6.30 to 8.30 pm commencing on 23 April 2005, with women only staffing the program; and to advertise these services.

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application by Sarah Campbell, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from Sections 13, 42, 65, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the specified conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted that:

- In August 2004 the Tribunal granted an exemption in similar terms for a 6-month period to enable a pilot study to be conducted of "Women Making Waves".
- The pilot study of the swimming program demonstrated that it was a popular initiative, particularly with Muslim women, who comprised 80% of the women attending the program. It was also noted that the program would be more consistently attended if it were available every week, and not during school holidays.
- Given the success of the pilot program, the applicant considers it appropriate to extend funding for a continuing program.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of Sections 13, 42, 65, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the specified conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 14 April 2008.

The Private Security Act 2004 will replace the Private Agents Act 1966 as the legislation which regulates the private security industry on 1 July 2005.

The objective of the regulatory regime for the private security industry is to reduce the risks to public safety, peace and security of property by:

- excluding from the private security industry persons or businesses likely to increase those risks;
- decreasing the risk of harm being caused to members of the community by inappropriate persons operating in the industry;
- prescribing competency criteria in the private security industry;
- prescribing requirements in relation to private security industry operations and practices;
- prescribing accountability procedures for monitoring and disciplining members of the private security industry; and
- proscribing certain types of conduct in the private security industry.

The proposed Private Security Regulations 2005 make provision for exemptions, forms, fees, records, procedures and other matters required for the practical operation of the Private Security Act 2004.

The RIS examines the proposed regulatory regime and alternatives to the proposed Regulations. The RIS concludes that the proposed Regulations will generate the greatest benefits for the Victorian community.
