EXEMPTION

Application No. A209/2009

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal (the Tribunal) has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act), by Rumbalara Aboriginal Co-Operative Ltd (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ a male Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander as a Family Violence Project Worker (known as a U-Turn Services Worker) with the applicant.

In the exemption the conduct referred to above is called 'the specified conduct'.

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application, including the affidavit of Felicia Dean, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the specified conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant has received funding to employ a Family Violence Project Worker (known as U-Turn Services Worker) to facilitate and co-ordinate access to delivery of family violence services to Indigenous men in the region.
- Evidence shows family violence is on the increase in Victorian Indigenous Communities. To reduce and respond to family violence issues clients will identify and engage more readily with a respected Aboriginal person.
- The Worker will be responsible for providing case support and facilitating access to a range of support services for Aboriginal men within the Greater City of Shepparton who perpetrate and/or experience family violence; to strengthen their health and wellbeing and to break the cycle of family violence.
- A demonstrated knowledge of the local Aboriginal community and the ability to effectively communicate with Aboriginal people and in particular with Aboriginal men and to be able to sensitively handle cultural issues are among the key selection criteria. A male Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander project worker would best meet those selection criteria.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the specified conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 15 October 2012.
