Affected land	Land within the green wedge area in the Mornington Peninsula Planning Scheme.
What the Amendment does	The Amendment introduces a Green Wedge Camping and Caravan Park Policy into the Mornington Peninsula Planning Scheme. This policy is designed to provide guidance on the location and design of camping and caravan parks throughout the green wedge area, as a means of minimising potential adverse impacts on the character and values of the green wedge. The objectives of the Policy relate to: the regulation of the location, scale and design of camping and caravan parks; the provision of tourist accommodation and short stay holiday accommodation; and the linking of camping and caravan parks with the provision of significant new outdoor recreation facilities.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A18/2010

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, by Department of Education and Early Childhood Development ('the Department'). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to offer places in the Eleanor Davis School Leadership Program for each of 2010, 2011 and 2012 to female employees of the Department only and to advertise that fact (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 14, 37, 42, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- The Victorian Government and in particular the Department is committed to ensuring that women and men have equality of opportunity to obtain public sector leadership and decision-making roles.

- The Department provides a significant number of leadership programs open to women and men, which are designed to enhance the career opportunities of teachers who wish, and have the capacity, to be leaders in the educational field.
- These programs are aimed to encourage more people to apply for leadership, and this will in the end foster the delivery of better education outcomes.
- The Department, through the Bastow Institute of Educational Leadership, provides many statewide learning programs of which the Eleanor Davis School Leadership Program ('the program') is one.
- Currently, more than 70% of the Victorian Public Sector teaching workforce are women. Many of these have the qualifications and capacity to undertake school leadership and management roles. But in proportion to their numbers in the teaching workforce, they are substantially under-represented compared to men in positions in the principal class (that is, in positions of school principal, vice principal or assistant principal).
- For example, in 2009, 46.5% of principal positions were occupied by women, and 53% of principal class positions were occupied by women. In previous years, these percentages were even lower.
- Research shows that many women are reluctant to apply for school leadership positions because they underestimate their achievements and lack confidence.
- The program is designed to build confidence and leadership capacity in women who aspire to school leadership positions, through mentoring, support and encouragement, study in leadership theory and practice, and opportunities to interact with senior departmental staff in the central office and regional offices.
- The program aims to increase the pool of those available for appointment to school leadership positions and to increase the numbers of women who wish to apply.
- The program caters for approximately 10 participants per year. The Department has obtained a previous exemption for the programs conducted in 2007, 2008 and 2009. Statistics show that significant numbers of women who attended these past programs afterwards applied for and were promoted to the principal class. For example, of those who participated in the 2007 program, 59% applied for and were promoted to the principal class thereafter.

- The evaluations of these past programs indicate that participants believed they had improved their leadership capability and had begun to consider actively applying for school leadership positions, and believed that the program had increased their potential to contribute to school operations and organisations.
- The program addresses a disadvantage suffered by women in the Victorian public sector teaching workforce in that they are currently under-represented in the principal class when compared to their numbers in that workforce as a whole. The program aims to give women the skills and confidence to apply for school leader positions. It does not affect merit based selection for those positions. It will have the additional benefit of contributing to the diversity of leadership in state schools and providing leadership models to other women.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 14, 37, 42, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 24 February 2013.

Dated 17 February 2010

Deputy President

EXEMPTION

Application No. A21/2010

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, by Inner South Community Health Service. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to employ, on a part time and temporary basis, a female in the position of family violence children's worker (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- This position has been funded by the Victorian Department of Human Services for a duration of 10 months. The holder of the position will be responsible for casework and counselling of children up to the age of 18 who have experienced family violence.
- Frequently, these children are accompanied by their mother who has also suffered family violence and is referred together with the child for casework and counselling.
- Frequently, this family violence has been perpetrated by men. A female caseworker and counsellor will be better able to cater for the needs of these clients, and they will feel better able to communicate more openly and will feel more comfortable with a woman in this position. Open communication will enable better outcomes in casework and counselling.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 24 February 2012.

Application No. A28/2010

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, by Gordon Institute of TAFE. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for, employ, and provide educational services to Koori trainees at the Institute (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 37, 42, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- Both historically and currently, there is comparatively high unemployment within the Koori community in the Geelong region and that community is under-represented in the TAFE sector of education when compared with the general population of the Geelong region. This proposal seeks to redress that disadvantage and to provide for members of the Koori community in the Geelong region broadened opportunities for employment and training in fields of benefit to themselves and to the community from which they come.
- The proposal is supported by the Institute and Koori community elders. Support networks will be in place for those to whom traineeships are provided.
- Previous exemptions have been granted in respect of similar traineeships.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 37, 42, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 24 February 2013.

Application No. A31/2010

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application, pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995, by Mullum Mullum Indigenous Gathering Place. The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander (ATSI person) as its Managing Director (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant provides a gathering place for ATSI people of the Eastern Metropolitan Region of Melbourne. The gathering place is a space where that ATSI community can come to strengthen their cultural identity, to acquire skills and to be part of a range of activities and programs designed to enhance life expectancy, strengthen children, young people and families, maintain cultural integrity and foster innovative approaches and solutions to Indigenous issues on a community basis.
- The organisation provides services and programs aimed to retain, promote and strengthen ATSI cultural identity in an environment that promotes respect and brings families and communities together. Those programs include the Indigenous Men's Business Program, the Indigenous Women's Network and the Aboriginal Burrai Playtime playgroup. The organisation is funded by the State Government to deliver its programs and services.
- It is important that the organisation is led by a person with profound understanding of ATSI culture and values and who is accepted by ATSI people.
- That person will most effectively be able to fulfil this leadership role if he/she is an ATSI person.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.
