EXEMPTION

Application No. A81/2011

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 by the Australia and New Zealand School of Government (the applicant) The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to allow only women to attend its Women in Leadership Executive Education Workshop and to advertise that Workshop (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application, including the affidavit of Peter Debus, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 37, 42 and 195 of the Act to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant is a not for profit company founded in 2002. It seeks to provide a world class education in strategic management and high level policy to public sector leaders.

The applicant is a consortium of the ten governments (including the Victorian government) and 16 universities and business schools in Australia and New Zealand.

- The Women in Leadership Executive Education Workshop is planned to be held between 20 and 22 June 2011 and it is intended to run the Workshop thereafter annually. The 2011 Workshop sessions include problem solving and agenda setting, managing people, accountability and performance, managing a crisis and resilience and developing the capacity to cope.
- The applicant has applied for the exemption as it believes that a women only setting will: provide a friendly, non-threatening environment for women which fosters an honest discussion of their work experiences, including the challenges associated with working in male dominated groups; ensure that audience participation does not detract from the Workshop's focus on the female person and their leadership and management skills; and foster better quality leadership amongst female leaders in the Australian and New Zealand public sectors and thus a stronger, more equal public sector.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of males who would wish to be attend the Workshop. I am satisfied that in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 37, 42 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 20 April 2014.

EXEMPTION

Application No. A83/2011

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 83 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 (the Act) by MIND Australia (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only a male in the role of Support Worker – Residential at Edith Pardy House (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Stuart Polwarth, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant is a leading provider of mental health services in Victoria and South Australia. The applicant works with people who experience mental health difficulties, to help them live well in the community, with or without symptoms. Edith Pardy House is a semi-structured non-24 hour adult residential program for up to 14 people who have experienced serious mental health issues. There are currently eight male clients and six female clients at the House. At present the ratio of referrals to the House is three males to every female client and that has been the situation for the last three years.
- The applicant seeks to employ a male support worker to replace a former member of staff. The applicant wishes to ensure that the current clients and future clients are offered services and support from a male worker.
- The role includes: providing an opportunity for young men to better understand themselves; developing living skills, improving social relationships and making meaningful links with the community; working closely with clients concerning sensitive issues relating to men's health; and exploring self identity and sexual orientation. Many of the clients have experienced negative and at times traumatic personal relationships and these experiences can hinder an individual's ability to engage appropriately with a worker of the opposite sex. In all these circumstances, male clients often relate better to a male worker and for some having a male worker provides an opportunity to develop a relationship with a male role model. As a consequence, the applicant wishes to ensure that its can provide a male support workers to its male clients.

- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of females who would wish to be employed in a support worker role by the applicant. I am satisfied that in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 13, 14, 100 and 195 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1995 to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 20 April 2014.

Upon reading the material submitted in support of the application and upon hearing submissions from the applicant and the Victorian Equal Opportunity and Human Rights Commission and for the Reasons for Decision given by the Tribunal on 19 April 2011, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 13 to 15, 42, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption to the applicant from the operation of sections 13 to 15, 42, 100 and 195 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.
