EXEMPTION

Application No. H90/2013

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by Zena Women's Services Inc. (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ only women in all roles within the applicant organisation (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavits of Antonia Halloran-Lavelle, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 16, 18, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant is a specialist not-for-profit organisation supporting women and their children who have experienced or are experiencing family/domestic violence in the Geelong and Barwon region. It operates an outreach program and a crisis accommodation service. It provides information, support and referral for women and children who have experienced or are experiencing domestic violence.
- The applicant currently employs 16 women (12.4 full time equivalent) in roles including Chief Executive Officer, Finance and Administration Officer, Quality and Development Coordinator, Support Services Manager, family violence intake workers, family violence outreach case managers, refuge manager, children's housing manager and culturally and linguistically diverse communities project officer.

- The applicant believes that, given the nature of the experiences of its clients and the services provided, it is appropriate that all staff be women.
- Section 28 of the Act contains an exception which would allow for the employment of women only where special needs services are being provided to women and where the relevant services are likely to be most effectively provided by other women. While that exception may apply to the direct contact services provided to the applicant's clients, I am not satisfied that the material before me proves that all other services provided by the applicant can be provided most effectively by women only. Where I am not satisfied that an exception applies to the whole of the exempt conduct but accept that it is preferable that women only work for the applicant whose focus is providing services to and assisting vulnerable women, it is appropriate that an exemption be granted.
- In the circumstances of this case, no exception or current exemption already applies to the exempt conduct and in the absence of an exemption, the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of men who would wish to be employed by the applicant. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 16, 18, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 19 February 2019.

EXEMPTION

Application No. H105/2013

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by the Wangaratta Bowls Club Inc. (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to organise and operate a men only lawn bowls tournament, the Men's Best Broto Four Cup, and advertise these matters (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavits of Peter Faithfull, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 44, 71, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- A copy of the application was sent by the Tribunal to the Victorian Equal Opportunity and Human Rights Commission (the Commission). The Commission did not seek leave to intervene in the proceeding.
- The applicant has been operating the Men's Best Broto Four Cup (the tournament) for some years. Originally, the applicant operated a men's and women's event in support of the Beyond Blue Foundation. Since 2007, it has operated the men's tournament only. The applicant also operates a women only tournament known as the Wangaratta Invitation Classic Masters Triples.
- The tournament is not a fundraiser however it does have some sponsorship to assist in meeting the costs. The tournament attracts many male bowlers and is a drawcard for the applicant. It is hoped that the tournament will assist in attracting new competitors to the sport.

- All activities of the applicant are open to all genders, except for Club Championship events. The applicant is part of the Ovens & Murray Bowls Region Association and currently has six teams participating in pennant competition. The competition consists of mid-week pennant with one ladies team and one mixed gender team and weekend pennant with four mixed gender teams. The applicant conducted 12 mixed gender competitions in the 2012/2013 bowls season and will continue to run those tournaments for the foreseeable future. The applicant also conducts regular mixed gender social bowling days on Wednesdays and Saturdays throughout the year for members and visitors. The applicant has received no complaints regarding men only events or otherwise about its arrangements as to gender.

- No exception or current exemption already applies to the exempt conduct and in the absence of an exemption the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination.

- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of women who would wish to play in the tournament. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 44, 71, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 19 February 2019.

INTERIM EXEMPTION

Application No. H23/2014

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by Care for You Pty Ltd (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ carers of a specified gender or age or ethnic origin or with specified religious beliefs to assist people with disabilities living in their homes (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application and having had regard to the terms of an earlier granted exemption which expired on 19 January 2014, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an interim exemption from sections 16, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct until the application is finally heard and determined.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant is a registered provider of attendant care to people with spinal injuries, brain injuries and neurological conditions. The applicant provides services in the home of its clients by appropriately qualified disability support workers. The care provided includes: personal care, including showering, dressing and bowel and bladder routines; community access including swimming, attendance at sporting activities and social outings; rehabilitation support including hydrotherapy and gym programs; and skill development.
- As a result of the services offered, including care which involves often intimate contact with the client, the applicant wishes, from time to time, to advertise for a gender, age, ethnic specific carer or for a carer with specific religious beliefs. This ensures, for example, that a female carer is available to assist a female client attend a swimming program or gym, or that a bilingual carer is available to assist an elderly male client or that a carer of a specific religious belief is available to assist a client with meal preparation or personal care in accordance with the client's belief. The applicant wishes to be able to provide to their clients carers of their choice. The clients are likely to be more comfortable and happier if such personal and intimate services are provided by carers with whom they feel at ease.
- A previous exemption was granted to the applicant in the same terms in 2011. I am not currently satisfied that an exception applies to the exempt conduct. Accordingly, in the absence of an exemption, the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of persons without the attributes or characteristics described above wishing to apply for a carer position with the applicant. I am satisfied that, for the purposes of this interim exemption, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an interim exemption from the operation of sections 16, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 20 May 2014.

INTERIM EXEMPTION Application No. H31/2014

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by Independence Australia (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to advertise for and employ age and gender specific disability support workers to provide personal care services to its clients (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application and having had regard to the terms of an earlier granted exemption which is due to expire on 23 February 2014, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an interim exemption from sections 16, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct until the application is finally heard and determined.

In granting this exemption, the Tribunal noted:

- The applicant is a community-based organisation employing more than 300 disability support workers whose role is to undertake personal care activities in clients' homes and elsewhere. The age range of the applicant's clients is from early teenage years to those 90 years of age plus. The relationship between the client and the disability support worker is highly personal because the worker assists the client to achieve independence and dignity.
- Clients seek assistance in all aspects of daily living such as toileting and showering. They also require assistance from the worker in work and social settings. As such, a strong rapport can develop which prompts many clients to seek a worker who can become an age-related peer which is pertinent to both young and aged clients who often make requests for a worker within a particular age range.
- Many clients also require gender specific workers given the very personal nature of the assistance provided. The applicant respects the right of the client to select an individual worker with whom they feel comfortable.
- A previous exemption was granted to the applicant in the same terms in 2011. I am not currently satisfied that an exception applies to the exempt conduct. Accordingly, in the absence of an exemption on expiry of the current exemption, the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of persons who are not of the age or gender sought by the applicant. I am satisfied that for the purposes of this interim exemption, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an interim exemption from the operation of sections 16, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from 24 February 2014 until 20 May 2014.

Subordinate Legislation Act 1994

NOTICE OF DECISION IN ACCORDANCE WITH SECTION 12 OF THE SUBORDINATE LEGISLATION ACT 1994

Fisheries (Fees, Royalties and Levies) and Fisheries Amendment Regulations 2014

I, Peter Walsh, Minister for Agriculture and Food Security in accordance with section 12 of the Subordinate Legislation Act 1994 give notice that I have decided to proceed with the making of the Fisheries (Fees, Royalties and Levies) and Fisheries Amendment Regulations 2014.

Following closure of publication of the regulatory impact statement for the proposed Regulations and consideration of submissions, it is proposed that the following changes to the Regulations be adopted:

- changing the levies for access licences, fish receiver licences, aquaculture licences and individual quota units in line with the introduction of a new, forward budgeting approach to recovery of costs for the services provided to the commercial fishing industry by the Department of Environment and Primary Industries;
- changing references from Fisheries Management Services to Fisheries Services;
- providing for the reduction and waiver of levies and for the refund of levies collected for the making of grants;
- providing a new basis upon which to calculate the levy imposed for the Fisheries Research and Development Corporation and for making grants under section 151(5) of the Fisheries Act 1995;
- making consequential amendments to regulation 54 of the Fisheries Regulations 2009; and
- making other miscellaneous amendments.

Other suggested changes were not adopted because they were inconsistent with the Government's cost recovery policies or not directly related to the recovery of costs for the services provided to the commercial fishing industry; or will be considered for future amendment following further detailed discussions with the commercial fishing sector.

The proposed Regulations are the most effective means of providing for the new, forward budgeting approach to recovery of costs for the services provided to the commercial fishing industry.

A copy of a statement of reasons for proceeding with the proposed Regulations with the amendments is available on the Department of Environment and Primary Industries' website at www.depi.vic.gov.au/fishing-and-hunting or a hard copy may be obtained by calling the Customer Service Centre on 136 186.

- prescribe procedures for requiring the installation and testing of backflow prevention devices;
- provide for the maintenance of works relating to water supply and sewerage; and
- provide for the submission of sanitary drainage plans.

The RIS discusses possible alternatives to the proposed regulations and concludes that the proposed regulations are the best means of achieving the stated objectives.
