EXEMPTION

Application No. H109/2014

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by Portarlington Bowls Club Inc. (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to organise and operate a two-day men-only lawn bowls tournament and advertise that matter (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavits of Alfred Leslie Johns, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 44, 71, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- A copy of the application was sent by the Tribunal to the Victorian Equal Opportunity and Human Rights Commission (the Commission). The Commission did not seek leave to intervene in the proceeding.
- The two-day men-only tournament has been run since 2006 and is held in November. A total of 28 teams compete, drawing bowlers from all around Victoria. The quality of the competition is very high, with last year's winning team including a bowler who is likely to represent Australia in the next Commonwealth Games. The tournament is sponsored and brings in funds which assist the applicant club. It also provides an opportunity to showcase the applicant club and its facilities.
- The applicant organises and runs a similar women-only event for which an exemption has been granted by the Tribunal. Women members have opportunities to bowl on all other days of the year. The applicant has received no complaints regarding men-only events or otherwise about its arrangements as to gender.
- I am not satisfied that one of the exceptions contained in the Act applies to the conduct and there is no current exemption which applies to the exempt conduct. In the absence of an exemption, the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of women who would wish to play in the tournament. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 44, 71, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from the day on which notice of the exemption is published in the Government Gazette until 6 August 2019.

EXEMPTION

Application No. H126/2014

The Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal has considered an application pursuant to section 89 of the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Act) by Fahdriscoll Enterprises Pty Ltd (the applicant). The application for exemption is to enable the applicant to conduct a social venue for male homosexual patrons only called 'the Sircuit Bar' at 103–105 Smith Street, Fitzroy, other than Sundays from 3.00 pm onwards, and to advertise that fact (the exempt conduct).

Upon reading the material filed in support of this application, including the affidavit of Christopher Driscoll and having had regard to earlier exemptions granted by the Tribunal, the Tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 44, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

In granting this exemption the Tribunal noted:

- The Sircuit Bar has been designed to provide a venue for gay men. The ground floor level includes a bar, lounge area and poolroom. The first floor includes a movie lounge and private areas. No alcohol is served on the first floor. The applicant says that, although there are many other venues which welcome the gay community, the experience is that those environments can be uncomfortable for gay men who wish to display affection or otherwise engage in interactions of the same type which are engaged in by heterosexual people and couples. For gay men those actions can readily lead to misunderstanding and disparaging comments which are not applied to heterosexual people. The applicants wish to provide a venue where it is safe and acceptable to openly express homosexuality. In addition to providing a social venue, the Sircuit Bar is used for gay men's social and community groups to meet.

- In practice, the applicant does not use the exemption in order to ask patrons about their sexuality. The applicant primarily relies on the exemption to exclude women from the venue, other than on Sundays after 3.00 pm. The exemption application expressly states that it will not apply to the venue on Sundays from 3.00 pm onwards, when the venue will be open to all patrons.
- The applicant has not received any complaints regarding the operation of the previous exemptions.
- As noted earlier, previous exemptions have been granted to the applicant in similar terms. An interim exemption was granted on 19 June 2014 to allow time for consideration of this application. That exemption will expire on 30 September 2014. I am not satisfied that an exception applies to the exempt conduct. Accordingly, after 30 September 2014, in the absence of a further exemption, the exempt conduct would amount to prohibited discrimination.
- When making decisions about exemptions, the Tribunal is required to give proper consideration to relevant human rights as set out in the Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Charter). Arguably, this exemption limits the right to equality and in particular the right to equal and effective protection against discrimination of women and heterosexual men who would wish to attend the Circuit Bar and the right of women and heterosexual men not to have their privacy arbitrarily interfered with. I am satisfied that, in the circumstances discussed above, the limit imposed by this exemption is reasonable and justified under the Charter.

The Tribunal hereby grants an exemption from the operation of sections 44, 107 and 182 of the Act to enable the applicant to engage in the exempt conduct.

This exemption is to remain in force from 1 October 2014 to 30 September 2019.
