- in consultation with Wyndham City Council ('Council');
- so far as is practicable, in accordance with any processes and policies that the Council would follow if it were the coordinating road authority and responsible road authority with respect to the project area.

I further direct that –

- before, or as soon as practicable after, the Interchange ceases to be a designated road project, VicRoads must commission and have carried out a survey of any road within the project area of which the boundaries have or may have been altered in the course of the Interchange; and
- as soon as practicable after the Interchange ceases to be a designated road project, VicRoads must:
