Corrections Act 1986GUIDELINES ON THE EXERCISE OF THE DISCRETIONARY POWER OF THE SECRETARY TO THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE AND REGULATION TO INCLUDE
CERTAIN PERSONS ON THE VICTIMS REGISTER(Section 30F of the Corrections Act 1986)

Department of Justice and Regulation

PURPOSE

These guidelines have been prepared under section 30F of the Corrections Act 1986 (the Act) in relation to the exercise of the discretion by the Secretary to the Department of Justice and Regulation (the Secretary) to include certain persons on the victims register. The guidelines have been developed to ensure consistency and transparency in the administration of this discretion.

INTRODUCTION

The Act and the Corrections (Victims Register) Regulations 2014 (the Regulations) provide the legislative framework for the establishment of a victims register for victims of violent crime and specified other persons who have a connection to, or have been adversely affected by, violent crime. The victims register scheme gives statutory recognition to the right of registered persons to be given certain information about prisoners and offenders and to lodge a victim submission with the Adult Parole Board (the Board) for the purpose of parole consideration; or to lodge a victim submission to the Victims Registrar to provide to the courts when there is an order application under the Serious Sex Offenders (Detention and Supervision) Act 2009.

The victims register scheme described in these guidelines does not deal with victim impact statements (which are made to a court to assist the court in sentencing an offender), nor does it deal with victims in relation to a criminal act by a prisoner where those victims may apply for information about a prisoner compensation quarantine fund.

The aim of the victims register is to provide timely, relevant and accurate information in a sensitive manner to registered persons. By providing registered persons with important information relating to the sentence of the prisoner or offender, and when applicable, enabling the registered person to make a victim submission to the Board, the victims register may help registered persons feel more secure, give them a voice, and help them in understanding their rights and how the criminal justice system works.

The Act allows a registered person to receive particular information during the administration of the offender's sentence of imprisonment and parole; or about an offender subject to an order or an application under the Serious Sex Offenders (Detention and Supervision) Act 2009. The information that a registered person may receive includes the prisoner's sentence length and earliest release date, the release on parole date (usually at least 14 days before the release date), cancellation of parole and return to prison custody, interstate or international transfer, escape from legal custody and other like information.

'Victim' is defined under section 30A(1) of the Act and includes a person who has had a 'criminal act of violence' (defined in section 30A(1) of the Act) committed against him or her, family members of such a person and spouses or domestic partners of prisoners or offenders who are subject to a family violence intervention order.

A person who falls within the definition of 'victim' in the Act is automatically entitled to registration on the victims register. Inclusion on the victims register is voluntary. The Act also provides some flexibility to persons who do not fall within the definition of 'victim' but who would justifiably have a claim to information about a prisoner or offender or a right to make victim submissions (the criteria for inclusion of such persons on the victims register is explained below).

For inclusion on the victims register an applicant needs to fill out an application form, titled 'Victims Register Application Form'¹, and lodge it with the Victim Support Agency at the address stated on the form.

The Secretary, under section 30C of the Act, has the discretionary power to approve the inclusion of a person on the victims register if that person is not a 'victim' under section 30A(1), but can sufficiently demonstrate to the Secretary:

1. a documented history of family violence (within the meaning of the Family Violence Protection Act 2008) being committed by:
 - a. a prisoner; or
 - b. an 'offender' (defined below) –
against that person; or
2. a substantial connection to:
 - a. the offence for which the prisoner is serving a sentence of imprisonment; or
 - b. the relevant offence for which the offender is or was subject to an extended supervision order, a supervision order or a detention order, or an application for such an order.

To assist in the determination of such applications, the Secretary has prepared these guidelines on the exercise of the discretion under section 30C of the Act.

Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013

NOTICE OF INDEXED BENEFIT LEVELS AND OTHER AMOUNTS IN ACCORDANCE WITH DIVISION 1 OF PART 13 OF THE

WORKPLACE INJURY REHABILITATION AND COMPENSATION ACT 2013

The Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013 came into operation on 1 July 2014. The Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013 recast the Accident Compensation Act 1985 and the Accident Compensation (WorkCover Insurance) Act 1993 into a single Act that is simpler and easier to use.

Division 1 of Part 13 of the Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013 provides for the indexation of weekly payments, weekly pensions for dependants and certain other amounts stipulated under the Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013.

Section 542 of the Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013 stipulates that weekly payments are varied on 1 July each year in line with the movement in the average weekly total earnings for all employees in Victoria between the two previous corresponding reference periods, using the latest figures published by the Australian Bureau of Statistics as at 15 June following the previous reference period. Weekly payments are indexed on the anniversary of the entitlement to weekly payments.

The average weekly earnings for all employees in Victoria between the December quarter of 2013 and the December quarter 2014 changed from $1064.20 to $1056.80 which is a decrease of 0.70%. Sections 159 and 546 of the Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013 provide that where a variation to an amount specified in sections 159, 542, 543, 544 and 545 of the Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013 would have the effect of reducing the amount, the variation is deemed not to have taken effect. This means that amounts calculated with reference to average weekly earnings in the 2014/2015 financial year will be unchanged for the 2015/2016 financial year.

Section 159 of the Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013 only applies in relation to a person who has an entitlement to an amount at the rate of the whole or part of twice the State average weekly earnings prior to 1 July 2015. If a worker has not had an entitlement to an amount at the rate of the whole or part of twice the State average weekly earnings prior to 1 July 2015, the amount of twice the State average weekly earnings as at 1 July 2015 will apply. The amount of twice the State average weekly earnings as at 1 July 2015 will be $2,110.

The Consumer Price Index between the March quarter of 2014 and the March quarter of 2015 increased from 105.3 to 106.4 which is an increase of 1.04%.

Accident Compensation Act 1985

NOTICE OF INDEXED BENEFIT LEVELS AND OTHER AMOUNTS IN ACCORDANCE WITH DIVISION 2D OF PART IV OF THE ACCIDENT COMPENSATION ACT 1985

The Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013 came into operation on 1 July 2014. The Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013 recasts the Accident Compensation Act 1985 and the Accident Compensation (WorkCover Insurance) Act 1993 into a single Act that is simpler and easier to use. Claims already made under the Accident Compensation Act 1985 will continue to be dealt with under that legislation. The Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013 also amends the Accident Compensation Act 1985.

Division 2D of Part IV of the Accident Compensation Act 1985 provides for the indexation of weekly payments, weekly pensions for dependants and certain other amounts stipulated under the Accident Compensation Act 1985. Section 631 of the Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013 substituted sections 100 to 100C of the Accident Compensation Act 1985.

Section 100 of the Accident Compensation Act 1985 now stipulates that weekly payments are varied on 1 July each year in line with the movement in the average weekly total earnings for all employees in Victoria between the two previous corresponding reference periods, using the latest figures published by the Australian Bureau of Statistics as at 15 June following the previous reference period. Weekly payments are indexed on the anniversary of the entitlement to weekly payments, or on the deemed anniversary date which for the purposes of this section is 1 July.

The average weekly earnings for all employees in Victoria between the December quarter of 2013 and the December quarter 2014 changed from $1064.20 to $1056.80 which is a decrease of 0.70%. Sections 91EA and 100D of the Accident Compensation Act 1985 provide that where a variation to a payment in sections 91EA, 100, 100A, 100B, 100C (including in a Table in those sections) would have the effect of reducing the amount, the variation is deemed not to have taken effect. This means that amounts calculated with reference to average weekly earnings in the 2014/2015 financial year will be unchanged for the 2015/2016 financial year.

Section 91EA of the Accident Compensation Act 1985 only applies in relation to a person who has had an entitlement to an amount at the rate of the whole or part of twice the State average weekly earnings prior to 1 July 2015. If a worker has not had an entitlement to an amount at the rate of the whole or part of twice the State average weekly earnings prior to 1 July 2015, the amount of twice the State average weekly earnings as at 1 July 2015 will apply. The amount of weekly earnings as at 1 July 2015 will be $2,110.

Following legislative changes in December 1997 some amounts are indexed by the rise in Consumer Price Index.

The Consumer Price Index between the March quarter of 2014 and the March quarter of 2015 increased from 105.3 to 106.4 which is an increase of 1.04%.

Workers Compensation Act 1958NOTICE OF NEW BENEFIT RATES PAYABLE IN ACCORDANCE WITH SECTION 9 AND SECTION 11

The Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013 came into operation on 1 July 2014. The WIRC Act recast the Accident Compensation Act 1985 and the Accident Compensation (WorkCover Insurance) Act 1993 into a single Act that is simpler and easier to use. The Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013 also amended the Workers Compensation Act 1958.

Section 9(3) of the Workers Compensation Act 1958 provides for rates of compensation to be adjusted on 1 July in any year in line with movements in the Australian male average weekly earnings between the December quarter of the two preceding years as published by the Australian Statistician at 15 June in each respective year.

Commencing 1 July 2014 section 648(3) of the Workplace Injury Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2013 amends the definition of average weekly earnings in section 9(5) of the Workers Compensation Act 1958. The definition provides that average weekly earnings means the average weekly total earnings of all male employees in Victoria in original terms published by the Australian Bureau of Statistics as at 15 June in the preceding financial year in respect of the most recent reference period ending on or before 31 December in that preceding financial year.

The Victorian male average weekly earnings for the December quarter of 2013 and 2014 were $1,295.50 and $1,281.80 respectively, a decrease of 1.06%. Section 9(5A) of the Workers Compensation Act 1958 stipulates that where a variation to a weekly payment would have the effect of reducing the amount, the variation is deemed not to have taken effect. This means that amounts calculated with reference to average weekly earnings in the 2014/2015 financial year will be unchanged for the 2015/2016 financial year.

Notice is hereby given that calculations in accordance with the said section produce the following rates of compensation which are payable, on and from 1 July 2005 instead of the amounts specified in section 9 of the said Act, in the clauses under the heading 'The Clauses Referred To'.
