INFORMATION TO BE PROVIDED IN THE APPLICATION

Applications should contain the following information:

1. The applicant's proposals for work and expenditure in relation to the block or blocks specified in the application

The applicant should provide a technical assessment of the GCS potential of the area and should include the concepts underlying its proposed work program, with sufficient detail to support that program. A sound technical assessment would include an assessment of relevant existing data that would justify the amount of seismic surveying, wells and other exploration activities proposed in the work program.

The technical assessment should identify the types of activities that will be required to progress understanding of the storage potential of the area.

The structure of the work program should be credible, coherent and supportable. Early elements of the work program should be sufficient to enable the later elements to proceed. The applicant should explain the extent to which the work program is justified by the technical assessment and how it will progress assessment of the storage potential of the area.

Work program content should be expressed to avoid ambiguity; for example, the number of kilometres of seismic acquisition must be stated. The work program expenditure should be categorised against each element of the work program and stated in Australian dollars. Proposals for work that are 'contingent' should not be included.

In developing work programs, applicants must take account of the Special Notes below, and the need to comply with the requirements of the Act, its Regulations and any Directions issued under the Act, and with any special conditions associated with the area. The effect of relevant provisions of other legislation should also be considered.

2. The technical qualifications of the applicant and of the applicant's employees, and the technical advice available to the applicant

Details of the technical qualifications of the applicant and its key employees and/or details of the technical advice available to the applicant (by way of consultants or other providers) that will enable it to meet its work program commitments.

3. Particulars of, and financial resources available to, the applicant

Details of the financial resources available to the applicant, including evidence of the applicant's ability to fund the proposed work program, a statement of other GCS assessment commitments over the next six years and a copy of the latest annual report for each applicant.

A summary of past Australian GCS or petroleum tenement performance for each of the applicant companies should be included and details of any relationship that a Director of an applicant company had with a company that defaulted over the previous five years.

Where relevant, evidence of the viability of the consortium lodging the application, including evidence that a satisfactory settlement has been, or can be, reached on the Joint Operating Agreement (a copy of a signed Heads of Agreement will generally suffice). The percentage interest of each party and the proposed operator should be included.

4. Other information

The application may set out any additional matters that the applicant wishes to be considered. This should include how the applicant proposes to engage with key stakeholders and undertake engagement activities throughout the length of a Greenhouse Gas Assessment Permit.

SPECIAL NOTES

In considering its bid, an applicant should take into account the following information. There are no requirements prior to bidding, but in seeking approval to undertake operations, compliance with relevant Acts is required and consultation with relevant stakeholders.

Relevant legislation

While all legislation should be considered, before conducting any exploration activities a company must make itself familiar with the following legislation. It is to be noted that a directional drilling operation from onshore will invoke a broader range of legislation than that which applies to wholly offshore operations:

- Aboriginal Heritage Act 2006
- Catchment and Land Protection Act 1994
- Coastal Management Act 1995
- Conservation, Forests and Lands Act 1987
- Country Fire Authority Act 1958
- Crown Land (Reserves) Act 1978
- Dangerous Goods Act 1985
- Environment Effects Act 1978
- Environment Protection Act 1970
- Environment Protection and Biodiversity Conservation Act 1999 (Cth)
- Flora and Fauna Guarantee Act 1988
- Greenhouse Gas Geological Sequestration Act 2008
- Heritage Act 1995
- Historic Shipwrecks Act 1976 (Cth)
- Marine Safety Act 2010
- National Parks Act 1975
- Native Title Act 1993 (Cth)
- Occupational Health and Safety Act 2004
- Petroleum Act 1998
- Planning and Environment Act 1987
- Pollution of Waters by Oil and Noxious Substances Act 1986
- Water Act 1989
- Wildlife Act 1975.

Native title

Applicants should consider the consequences that the Native Title Act 1993 may have on their exploration rights and any future production rights.

Applicants should note that for part of the release area, native title has been determined for the Gunaikurnai people. The relevant area applies out to 200 metres seaward from the Territorial Sea Baseline. Native title processes do not apply to the grant of the title but native title processes apply to operations in the area.

More detail about the determination is available at the National Native Title Tribunal website www.nntt.gov.au. The Native Title Representative Body representing the Gunaikurnai is Native Title Services Victoria (www.nts.vic.gov.au).

Aboriginal heritage

While native title parties will have an interest in Aboriginal heritage and may be the responsible party, Aboriginal heritage is treated separately to native title under legislation and is protected under the Aboriginal Heritage Act 2006. The responsible Government agency is the Office of Aboriginal Affairs Victoria (www.dpc.vic.gov.au/index.php/aboriginal-affairs/about-the-office-of-aboriginal-affairs-victoria).

The Department's online mapping tool (GeoVic, www.energyandresources.vic.gov.au/earth-resources/maps-reports-and-data/geovic) shows the locations of Cultural Heritage Sensitivity.

While the Aboriginal Heritage Act 2006 does not include the coastal waters as areas of Cultural Heritage Sensitivity, the land along the coastline is included as an area of Cultural Heritage Sensitivity. There are also many known Aboriginal heritage places recorded along this section of coast and onshore activities therefore may require an approved cultural heritage management plan.

If considering work that involves activity onshore, it is recommended that a permit holder engage a cultural heritage advisor to prepare a desktop study of known Aboriginal cultural heritage and areas likely to contain Aboriginal cultural heritage.

The Gunaikurnai Land and Waters Aboriginal Corporation is the Registered Aboriginal Party under the Aboriginal Heritage Act 2006.

Environmental and Crown land considerations

Access to the Ninety Mile Beach Marine National Park is regulated under the National Parks Act 1975. Current policy is that seismic acquisition is not permitted within the park but transit through may be permitted subject to consent from the Minister.

A permit holder may decide to undertake directional drilling operations from onshore. In such a case, a Special Drilling Authorisation under the Greenhouse Gas Geological Sequestration Act 2008 provides for access onshore. The category of land will affect approvals processes but all of the coast adjacent to the area has park land under the National Parks Act 1975, and a directionally drilled well bore passing beneath the coast requires section 40 authorisation under that Act because Crown land extends to the centre of the earth.

Directional drilling from onshore would require consideration under a range of other legislation. The Department of Environment, Land, Water and Planning (DELWP) has advised that flora and fauna on both Crown and privately owned land are protected under a range of legislation (included in the list above) and requests adequate and timely consultation with DELWP (and Parks Victoria if relevant) prior to any activities in order to assist in the protection of cultural, environmental and biodiversity values. Explorers need to be aware of their obligations under Victoria's Native Vegetation Management – a Framework for Action with regard to any activities likely to impact on native vegetation.

The Coastal Spaces Landscape Assessment Study identifies that Ninety Mile Beach is visually of State significance and potentially of national significance, and any works should take this into consideration.

Planning issues

An approximately 11 kilometre strip onshore between Golden Beach and the end of Glomar Beach was inappropriately subdivided in the late 1950s and 1960s; development is now prohibited by planning controls. Landowners in the strip have been offered ex-gratia payments to transfer their land to the Wellington Shire Council. This process is ongoing.

Fisheries

The area is in coastal waters subject to current fishing activity. Seafood Industries Victoria (<http://siv.com.au>) is the overarching representative organisation for professional fishermen and VRFish (www.vrfish.com.au) is the body representing recreational fishermen. In addition, fishermen from a port are likely to be a member of a cooperative; for example, the Lakes Entrance Fishermen's Cooperative (www.letrade.com.au) operates out of Lakes Entrance.

Section 496 of the Offshore Petroleum and Greenhouse Gas Storage Act 2010 provides that a company not interfere with other users of the sea to a greater extent than is necessary for the reasonable exercise of the rights and performance of the company.

Purse seine, abalone, rock lobster, ocean and trawl fishers operate in these areas. The areas are also close to highly productive fisheries, Corner Inlet and Lakes Entrance, and scallops are harvested in the adjacent Bass Strait. When considering an activity, the successful company will be required to demonstrate effective consultation with fishermen about the potential impacts of the proposed operation on fish stocks and fishing operations.

Fishermen are particularly concerned about the impacts of seismic acquisition, drilling muds and cuttings disposal, the cumulative impact of development in the region and the impact of infrastructure such as pipelines.

European heritage

The Victorian Heritage Register (www.dtpli.vic.gov.au/heritage/about-heritage-in-victoria) and the Heritage Inventory list shipwrecks and other significant historical places and sites. There are listed shipwrecks in the area. The Heritage Act 1995 provides that consents are required where an activity might affect a listed place or object.

Any new sites or wrecks encountered during exploration must be reported to Heritage Victoria.

Petroleum interests

Petroleum Retention Lease VIC/RL1(V) containing the Golden Beach field and Petroleum Exploration Permit VIC/P43(V) intersect with the proposed acreage release. In the words of the Act, VIC/RL1(V) is a pre-commencement petroleum title and is afforded certain protections. The Minister must have regard to the impact that key greenhouse gas operations could have on petroleum operations. The Minister cannot approve key greenhouse gas operations if satisfied they will have a significant adverse impact on petroleum operations unless the petroleum title is held by the applicant for approval. Applicants for the acreage should review the legislation and understand these constraints.

As at 3 March 2016, VIC/RL1(V) is held by Cape Energy (Victoria) Pty Ltd and VIC/P43(V) is held by Petro Tech Pty Ltd.

AVAILABLE GEOLOGICAL AND EXPLORATION DATA
