The proposed OHS Regulations will replace the Occupational Health and Safety Regulations 2007 which are due to expire on 19 June 2017.

The proposed OHS Regulations further the objects of the Occupational Health and Safety Act 2004 (OHS Act) by providing for health and safety in relation to workplaces and hazards, activities and things at workplaces; the management of asbestos-containing materials in workplaces, the removal of asbestos, and the licensing of asbestos removalists; the safe operation of major hazard facilities and mines in order to reduce the likelihood of a serious incident occurring; the training requirements for certain persons engaged in construction work; the licensing of certain persons engaged in high risk work; procedures for the resolution of health and safety issues at workplaces; for other matters under the OHS Act.

The proposed OHS Regulations also further the objects of the Dangerous Goods Act 1985 by prohibiting the use of asbestos and providing for the protection of property from damage from the use of dangerous goods at major hazard facilities.

The proposed OHS Regulations will largely remake the existing Regulations, with a number of improvements to streamline and modernise the regulations and to better reflect contemporary work practices in Victoria.

The proposed EPS Regulations will replace the Equipment (Public Safety) Regulations 2007 which are also due to expire on 19 June 2017.

The proposed EPS Regulations further the objects of the Equipment (Public Safety) Act 1994 by declaring certain equipment to be prescribed equipment; placing duties on certain designers, manufacturers, importers, suppliers, and persons in charge of prescribed equipment; ensuring the safety of prescribed equipment when used at places other than workplaces; and specifying notifiable incidents. The proposed EPS Regulations mirror Part 3.5 – Plant, of the proposed OHS Regulations, so that users of prescribed plant and equipment are afforded the same health and safety protections in relation to design, manufacture and supply.

The costs and benefits of the proposed OHS Regulations and EPS Regulations are considered in the RIS, which has been prepared by Deloitte Access Economics.

The RIS discusses possible alternatives to the proposed Regulations and concludes that the proposed Regulations are the best means of achieving the stated objectives of reducing work-related fatalities, injuries and diseases, and ensuring public safety in relation to prescribed equipment.

The net benefits of the proposed OHS Regulations and EPS Regulations are estimated to be $11.81 billion over 10 years. In comparison with the current Regulations, the proposed Regulations are expected to reduce compliance costs by approximately $9 million per year, in net present value terms, or $84 million over the 10-year life of the Regulations.

Public comment is invited on the RIS and the proposed OHS and EPS Regulations.

Please note, all submissions will be treated as public documents and will appear online unless clearly identified as being confidential.

Comments should be received by WorkSafe Victoria (WorkSafe) no later than close of business on Friday 9 September 2016. Submissions may be lodged electronically using an online form, by email or via post.

Electronic copies of the proposed OHS and EPS Regulations, and RIS can be obtained from WorkSafe's consultation website www.consultation.worksafe.vic.gov.au, from WorkSafe Advisory Service 1800 136 089 (toll-free) or via email: ohsregsreform@worksafe.vic.gov.au
